

- Buildings have to be far enough apart so they don't get completely covered
- Buildings should follow angle or trenchline as best as possible (represented by building height) without being too drastic as to fully cover subsequent building.